

IBC SOLAR: Member of the United Nations Global Compact

IBC SOLAR has been a member of the United Nations Global Compact (UNGC) since August 2017. The largest international initiative for responsible management unites 12,000 companies, organisations and public institutions in 170 countries.

Its involvement in the UNGC means that IBC SOLAR AG has the ambition to report transparently on its activities and follow the vision of a resource-efficient and sustainable global economy for the benefit of all people. The UNGC is a sustainability initiative of the United Nations. The focus is on ten principles for human rights, labour standards, environment protection and corruption prevention.

By becoming a member of the initiative, IBC SOLAR is committing to these principles publicly and is actively involved in their implementation.

“We, as a solar company, are already making good progress in the field of environment and climate protection. Through our involvement in the UNGC, we have an even greater moral duty to make a positive impact on the environment throughout the value added process of our products.”

Udo Möhrstedt
Founder and CEO
IBC SOLAR AG

Commitment to sustainable and responsible management

Active responsibility

Taking responsibility is one of our most fundamental principles – Taking responsibility for the satisfaction of our customers, our employees and the environment. IBC SOLAR has already been certified according to DIN EN ISO 9001 for quality management, DIN EN ISO 14001 for environmental management and BS OHSAS 18001 for occupational safety and health protection since 2012.

In this context, we are implementing a wide range of measures for environment protection and occupational safety and demanding these standards from our suppliers. By joining the UNGC, we will primarily continue to strengthen our in-house climate management and considerably reduce our CO2 emissions in the coming year.

The 10 principles of the UN Global Compact

Environment

- 01 Companies should follow the precautionary principle when dealing with environmental issues.
- 02 Companies should undertake initiatives to promote greater environmental awareness.
- 03 Companies should accelerate the development and dissemination of environmentally friendly technologies.

Human rights

- 04 Companies should support and ensure the protection of international human rights.
- 05 Companies should ensure that they are not complicit in human rights violations.

Labour standards

- 06 Companies should preserve the freedom of association and the effective recognition of the right to collective bargaining.
- 07 Companies should demonstrate their commitment to eliminating all forms of forced labour.
- 08 Companies should demonstrate their commitment to abolishing child labour.
- 09 Companies should demonstrate their commitment to eliminating discrimination in respect of employment and work.

Corruption prevention

- 10 Companies should work against corruption in all its forms including extortion and bribery.

More information can be found at:
<https://www.unglobalcompact.org/>

9001400066
As of: 2017-II